HOW BEAUTEOUS MANKIND IS!

Man's true beauty is a subtle one,
one that he himself may never fully realize because he all too often thinks he finds beauty
where it isn't . . . at all, at all.
He searches for shades without color and the formless shape
of the gesture that we men make, dryly.
He lives a life of superficiality, and looks more counterfeit than real . . . a grand disguise.
So he ambles, rambles, runs through his life,
searching for some semblance of genuine beauty.
But what is it?
It is not the beauty of a Max Factor face,
or the beauty of a Brooks Brother's suit.
It is the beauty of his action.
It is the beauty of his mind.
It is the beauty of his love . . .

O, BRAVE NEW WORLD

Student riots, black power, pot, war that's not war, and contradicted talk of ABM's to insure peace, liberty, and, of course, democracy. Nearly cliches, brave new words have stalked into a brave new time that dares be nothing else. It proclaims the death of God and then of sex in a-passionate faces, of Hugh Hefner love machines and Doris Day movies. It no longer trembles at wind-shaking whispers, but quakes as theater of cruelty screams protests of oppressed. The logos have become brave new war, brave new hatred, and brave new uncertainty. Students, with little patience left, seek and cry for somewhere some brave new love.

THAT HAS SUCH PEOPLE IN IT!

People that live and move and play and . . . are they know not what,
but people a world made more than "beauteous"
by their being.

The UE people are people of interaction,
yet they like to be very much alone sometimes.

They are people of pride,
a pride sometimes Dantesque . . . but usually not.
They are people of inexhaustible energy,
but, at times, personifications of lethargy and apathy. These people are concerned, and this is perhaps unique in their generation.

They give a damn . . .

not only for themselves, but for things that matter in their world.

They speak out, slumber, smile, and "chew the fat."
They play their self-appointed parts numbering seven
from mewling infant,
through the intermediate stages
which they now play
to oblivion.

The UE student steps outside a world perhaps too wide and lives four years
in a miniature world:
the BRAVE NEW WORLD of the university campus.
He comes as a child becoming adult and tries to find answers to "What will you be when you grow up, Sonny?"
And did God really die?
And what is Truth? And what Beauty?
But that's not all.
Standing at the doorway
of a new decade, he's asking "What's it all about?"

THE WORLD OF THE LIVING CAMPUS

The world of the living campus is people—exciting people making exciting things happen.
It's a busy world to match the one too wide
where there are too many things to do, too many places to go,
too many people to meet,
and where a 24-hour day is obsolete.
What's worth all this?

Those precious moments when the child-become-man catches one smile in a crowded room, when he sees this snow-white, wonder-land world is his . . . created for him and his creation.

THE UNIVERSITY

In the darkness of a troubled age
the University stands
as one of the few bright lights.
Here is the hope that a world plagued with darkness
may find enlightenment.
Yet even here the darkness persists.
The darkness of communications failures,
the darkness of a generation gap,
the darkness of academic imprisonment,
and the darkness that for many means nothing more than a darkness of skin
that is somehow inferior.
What is the role of the lights?
Obliterate the dark?
Or perhaps complement it?
The University:
a show of lights and shadows.

WELCOME FRESHMEN! THIS IS COLLEGE!

No matter what he's heard, the freshman's first week isn't for real until he lives it. It's a big step, they said, and he discovers at least it's many—especially if he lives on a fourth floor. But—just once—thank heaven for upperclassmen—the strong ones who grin and bear his department store into his half of a 12x15 room. As perspiration drips and patience wanes, he stands in line for three days. It won't be this way all the time he's here—just half of it. In three short days he's entered a new world, a collage of individuals, and he is one. He's changed. He'll not go home again. The next four years are his—the best yet to come.

THANK YOU E VENDO

ISN'T FALL FUN, FUN, FUN!

"For everything there is a season and a time for every matter . . ." and fall is no season or time for the UE student to spend weekends in the dorm.
Fridays do come
and though for some its arrival means going home, (UE a suitcase campus?) for others it means lawn parties and, this year, Li'l Abner parties at the Lambda Chi House,
luaus with SAE's,
go-go girls at the Sig Ep red door,
TKE's return of the playmate,
and Phi Kappa Tau's road rally followed by beach party.
The ice breaker dance once again broke ice for co-eds early on the lurch to catch a husband
but especially for Cindy Schenk crowned queen of the annual event.
Was the cast built for Barb or she for it?
Obviously the latter as Lambda Chi's named Barb Podorski Miss Water Melon Bust 1968.
Fall? . . . Fun? . . . Uh-huh!

THE UE STUDENT LOVES TO PLAY!

Born into a world which numbers work
the first of its seven deadly virtues,
the UE student sometimes escapes from its
"Heavy, heavy hangs over thy head" threat.
Denying his pawn, no-exit life,
he manages to find an hour,
or maybe two,
in his day
of 50-minute divisors
when he can loaf, goof off, play or just do nothing.
It is in these rare moments—
less rare for some than for others—
that he becomes something,
something besides activity number 47520
or meal ticket number 1793
or third row, second from the aisle.
He's becoming an individual learning the rules of his life-game, accepting its checkmates,
and, best of all, laughing at its losses.

BUT STOPS TO STUDY . . . FOR A WHILE.

While play may be the object of a given moment, study is the purpose of our four-year experiment in higher education. Here is the whole realm of academic interests (and lack of interests). The basics—Comp 101, Psych 121, Bio 100—are a boring snap for some. For others? The Fates that snip strung wishes for a college career. These are the courses to be chewed, digested, or gulped down raw. Once the groundwork is laid, the super-structure of learning can be constructed.

What happens at this stage can be as complex or as elementary as the individual builder chooses. For the builder who wants the very finest it means reading long hours into the night, searching endlessly for one obscure reference, and often ignoring housekeeping for the sake of something that must be built: a sturdy structure—"the house of intellect."

THE 9-3 UE STUDENT

The world of the UE campus is a different world when seen from the eyes of the commuter.

It's a daytime world for most, one that doesn't exist for him after his last class of the day.

He enters it for that nine o'clock with maybe not another class till noon, and he doesn't really have time to leave it to go home in between. The Union and the library fast become a haven for the times between the bells—the cafeteria or the Indian for lunch and talk with other "townies" or a few stray "dormies" and the library to pick up that book he can't come back to get at night, when this world for him has ended—till tomorrow.

THE UE UNION . . . HUB OF A UNIVERSE

A world within a world within a . . .
the McCurdy Alumni Student Union stands
as classroom for Seminar in Living 101.
Here there are no dry voices
but the rich, melodious sound of harmony.
A charming place.
A meeting place.
A very good place,
directed by Mrs. Louise Land in straw hat . . .
and otherwise,
programed by Nira Zuroske on phone . . .
It is here that nothing is ever quite the same,
and that's good!
It is here that commuter meets resident,
independent meets Greek,
and that's good too!
It is here that the diversified elements that characterize the urban campus are given the chance to mingle
in an atmosphere most healthy.
And this is very, very good, quite good.
This is a place where every student can be a part of a very perfect Union.

THE UE UNION WORKS FOR YOU

A billiards tournament
in the games room,
a bridge game in the patio,
a meeting of the board
in a committee room upstairs . . .

It's a busy, busy place,
the UE Union.

Staff and nine committee chairmen work from fall's Campus Chatter through the annual Christmas Party to spring's Recognition Dinner, providing a place for the UE student to buy used books at the STA, to study in a quiet place, to eat, or just to play.

The Chi Omega Moon shot (LEFT) fell short, but the men of Phi Mu Alpha (BELOW) sailed through to victory in the mixed limited category with a "time tunnel" Columbus.

MM Emcees, Rick White and Janet Blue (RIGHT) introduced the entertainment for the evening while the women of the University Apartments (ABOVE), winners of second place limited, provided it.

A FUNNY THING HAPPENED . . .

Weeks of work and worry, lots of wonder and not a few wishes, and yet, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to . . ." the twenty-second Musical Madness. Before the biggest audience in MM's history, AOPi's proved once again that teachers always win while the men of Lambda Chi Alpha captured first in their division with a fanciful rendition of the draft. Chris Columbus made his comeback, tumbling into '68 to the tune of the fastest harp in the time tunnel as University Apartments' Jack fell out of a fairy tale and onto Bosse's stage. Chi O's in out-of-this-world costumes found craters on the moon? No: nonconformity. And then? Anything goes! This year the proceeds went to Becky Prince and Larry Eiffler as $300 scholarships. Yes, it's music and it's mad. (Who taught the judges how to add?) And—despite Trevathan's call—there really was another . . . after all.

HAVE A BALL!

The winter is cold
and the nights are long long
long.
Thank goodness for UB and the Zeta's!
President's Ball
and the Zeta Tau Alpha Mardi Gras
come as welcome interruptions of the humdrum winter doldrums.
Union Board's Prexy Ball
honors all campus presidents
as well as UE's own Wallace B. Graves.
A night to dress up, be presented,
and feel pretty important.
The Zeta's Mardi Gras is far more casual,
providing a chance to dress up and act a little crazier for a while.
All this fun!
And for charity too!

ALL-CAMPUS RUNS AWAY WITH SGA

A perfect campaign to end all campaigns—this was the mutual goal of All Campus and Action parties as political wheels began to spin into the all-important spring election of SGA officers. Bargains and barter (none dare call them bribes) bounced off and sometimes were absorbed into uncommitted but influential groups while the campus metamorphosed overnight into a living billboard.

Action Party ran Dennis Brinkmeyer and Jensen, Butler, Crocker, and Vote. Could they lose with iridescent license plates and bigger-than-life portraits? Yes.

Six years of experience did make a difference for All Campus.

In a clean but narrow sweep, we elected Barry Allred president and backed him up with Steve Creekbaum, Patti Pennington, Jack Paulen, and Becky Prince to head an on-the-move SGA.

SWINGIN' SPRINGIN' WEEKEND

UE's answer to IU's "Little 500"

was a Spring Weekend sponsored by SGA and packed with happenings:

"The Happenings" and "The Mitchel Trio" who performed in a less than packed stadium.

Friday brought awards for everybody.

But, best of all, classes were cancelled.

Nine beautiful ladies—

fair and fresh as a day in May—vied for queen.

But students voted Chi O Barb Sanford fairest.

Snow and ice might have stopped

a strawberry breakfast, but rain didn't,

thanks to Harpers. Six co-eds worked long,

hard hours preparing for the Miss UE title and the Michigan City pageant. Judges selected

Phi Mu Bev Terhune for the crown as her sister,

Joyce Sander, became Miss Congeniality.

It was the middle of an exciting weekend

that rolled into Saturday with one event left

and one question looming: the bike race

BIG "39" RIDES AGAIN!

They couldn't do it. They just couldn't. After an impressive, confidence-inspiring string of five wins, Lambda Chi Alpha bowed to a stronger team from Sigma Phi Epsilon. Lost in the excitement were the other teams: SAE's, TKE's, Hale, and Newman. "Whose fault was it?" "Didn't we work hard enough?" "It had to happen sometime." "But we've always won!" "There's always next year."

But not this year.

Sig Eps captured the Big '39 trophy with a deserving and practiced team.

Chi O's backed TKE's and won the cheering trophy, but "Splash!" and Sig Ep sweetheart, Chi O Becky Cooper (Coop) goes in, while up go disappointed cries of defeat mingled with ecstatic shouts of long-awaited victory.

RELIGION IN COLLEGE LIFE

Religion—no isolated segment in UE campus life—began in September to tell it like it is. University Christian Movement study/action groups jumped into the “nitty-gritty” to become a real undercurrent in campus issues and community problems. Dr. Tex Sample was resource leader for Religion in Campus Life Week in November, that short but busy week and retreat to Santa Claus Campground. During it, UE’s own Dr. Paul Schlueter told us how it is—at least how it is with the literature of Henry Miller—“Rebellious Puritan.” Dr. Perkins, Father Kress, and Ray Lynn, Neu Chapel’s triumvirate, experimented with new forms of worship, planned sometimes by students, sometimes themselves. Neu opened its doors not only for Thursday chapel, but for Sunday, too, and became the scene for sensitivity training, for the controversial “orgy,” and for concerned people seeking a quiet, quiet place.

TELL IT:

HOMECOMING WEEKEND

This was a festival of competition.
 Thirty feet of chicken wire . . .
 Lots of crepe paper (buy the store out) . . .
 And boards (Can you hammer a nail?) . . .
 There were weeks of designs and brainstorm
 and stuffing parties.
 Yet, it was a long day's night of UE students who hammered and stuffed their lawn displays into the wee hours of Friday.
 Moore Hall "backed" Ellen (Ellie) Price
 all the way to the crown and the title of Homecoming Queen.
 For this was a festival . . .
 Johnny Carson brought his show with Doc Severinsen and Phyllis McGuire.
 This was the competition.
 This was the festival.
 This was.

HOMECOMING CELEBRITIES

Homecoming is a festival of celebrities.
UE alums, students, and friends
flocked to Robert's Stadium for celebrities Johnny Carson,
Doc Severinsen, Phylis McGuire.
They were great to be sure.
Their big names sold the weekend.
But for some reason
the most important celebrity by far is the one we pick ourselves: Ellie Price.

UE's Bachelor of the Year
 Sammy Small, from Hughes Hall got his just rewards from Beverly Terhune UE's reigning Miss
 while a bevy of Basketball beauties
 hopefully vied for the Queen's title:
 Emily Bacus
 Debby Winkler
 Debbie Dearmin
 Karen Lunsgaard
 Pam Naberhuis
 Barb Podorski
 Cheryl Williams
 and Billie Alden.
 Phi Mu Winkler won the title and the also-rans waited for another time, another year, another title.

BACHELORS AND BASKETBALL QUEENS

SLOW DANCE ON THE KILLING GROUND

Images of excellence are often indistinct and most usually rare, but UE Theatre players David Emge, Cheryl Scammon and Ron Glass, directed by John David Lutz, found most appropriate images for the William Hanley play, SLOW DANCE ON THE KILLING GROUND.
 Awesome talent.
 Remarkable interpretation.
 Here is a "new" world . . . a world of violence.
 Can we escape it?
 Hardly.
 Can we ignore it?
 Hanley says not.
 But must we succumb to it? . . . Yes.
 There is no other answer unless, amid the chaos of a brutal age, we can hope for, search for, and maybe find a quiet, quiet . . . place.

THE MISER

Emge shines again
reflected in the hoarded gold of the masterpiece:
THE MISER.

And the brilliance—
definitely Moliere!

In humor bitter and sophisticated,
savory slapstick and fatuous farce,
Dr. Sam Smiley showed once more that the classics are anything but dull.

It's the creative imagination of a very spirited and talented troupe that breathed the breath of now into Harpagon's greedy world.

It's a world still seething with avarice,
a world still more obsessed with possessions
than with love.

Sad.

Yet, what better way to meet such a world than with an occasional smile and a happy face?

ARMS AND THE MAN

It was "Shaw-business" for UE theatergoers primed for the wit and pricked by the satire that is strictly G.B.S. Dr. Sam Smiley selected ARMS AND THE MAN for UE's entry into the American College Theatre Festival. He directed his company—headed by Mike Pullin, Janis Puckett, David Emgee, and Cheryl Scammon—into the number one spot in state competition, which meant a trip to Athens, Ohio, for regionals. Pullin as Sergius, who "never apologized," had no need for apologies. The half-dozen Sergiuses popped vibrantly in and out of him. By a flutter of lashes, vivacious, coquettish, précieux Raina (Puckett) pulled the life-strings of Sergius and her Chocolate Creme Soldier (Emgee) and charmed an admiring audience into her world. What a play! Was this a play! Pshaw!

THE PERSECUTION AND ASSASSINATION OF JEAN-PAUL MARAT AS PERFORMED BY THE INMATES OF THE ASYLUM OF CHARENTON UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE MARQUIS DE SADE

It was shocking, and that is understating;
it was theatre of cruelty;
it was rough and rigorous drama
that screamed violence of revolution,
of personal annihilation,
and of the cruelty of sheer existence.

THE PERSECUTION AND ASSASSINATION
OF JEAN-PAUL MARAT AS PERFORMED BY THE INMATES OF THE ASYLUM OF CHARENTON
UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MARQUIS DE SADE
was all this and more.

It was deformed, fiendish images of mankind
as a mad animal. Or were they deformed?
Dr. Dudley Thomas directed the Peter Weiss play.
Mike Pullin was voted a second Sammy
in his role of Sade. Terry Clark played Marat.
MARAT/SADE's purpose as drama?

Perhaps to make its viewers see
"the important thing is to pull yourself up
by your own hair, turn yourself inside out,
and see the whole world with fresh eyes" (Marat).
It was an audience involved, seeing with fresh eyes,
immediately effected, later reflecting.
"What was it about? I don't know."
"Did I like it?"
"You don't like things like this."

PRIMARY, CAMPAIGN, ELECTION—'68

Screeching relatives and crooning Bobby Darin wooded and wowed us all last spring, at least until May 7. What did they want?

These handsome women and well-dressed men?
Nothing but our wholehearted support for their party's nomination for . . .

We sorta liked McCarthy—in CHOICE '68.
But he left the primaries with a heavy heart—
and a third place. For Nixon,

Indiana meant one more happy passel
of delegates for the Miami convention
while Humphrey cringed as the opposition picked up more votes.

But for Robert Kennedy, Indiana
was a giant step into the wonderful world of political arenas that glittered with promise
but ended for him with a bang . . .
and a whimper;

a world that nevertheless gained momentum
whirling into November's once-in-four-years day when the nation was confronted with a third party that left the other two rocking in a scared boat.

Wallace made a good showing, but not good enough.

We elected Richard M. Nixon,
the President with a promise for unity and with four crucial years to unite.

MUSICAL MADNESS

Some were well-known, some hardly recognized, and some disguised, but every proverb in Musical Madness '69 spiced the show with ginger and variety. Phi Tau's took first in their division for an atypical skit—"Happiness is a Warm Gun," while Phi Mu Alpha walked off with a first by reviving "This is Your Life." But the Moore Hall chicks "cackled" themselves into the big one: the Bob Werne Best All Around trophy. How? By "refraining from calculating their juvenile poultry 'ere the process of incubation was completely materialized"—of course!

'69 SPRING HAPPENINGS

Spring and a young man's fancy turns to . . .
Well, Steve Creekbaum's turned to SGA elections and a successful campaign for him,
Mike Warner, Ellie Price,
Susie Hixon, and Richard Dick.
Other fancies turned to the Mil Ball
and Queen Debbie Winkler, crowned at the Ramada dance
sponsored by Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight.
Spring '69 at UE also saw the Lecture Series'
cigar-waving Art Buchwald
"witticize," satirize, and charm.
The end of the year also brought the third almost-annual Gridiron starring Crescent and Pi Delta Epsilon:
Profs were roasted and awarded,
and everyone took a quick look back
on a year that was good, could have been better,
but in any case, deserves at least a laugh.

MAY DAY MEANS NO CLASSES, ROTC REVIEW, A QUEEN, AWARDS, EGG TOSS

No classes again? This was the question getting the most affirmative answers spring quarter as Fridays many times meant no class after ten or eleven.

(Somebody up there liked nine o'clocks?)

Greek Week began on a Friday with a May Day celebration lacking only a Maypole which no one seemed to miss.

Sparkling Molly Rubin became May Queen early in an on-the-circle awards ceremony on a rare day, thoughtless of rain.

Contests were the word of the afternoon and ended when "egg-tossing" became "egg-throwing" in an every chicken for himself free-for-all where the loser truly took the "spoils."

DEATH IS KEY WORD IN SPRING PRODUCTIONS

Summertree, summertree, summertree, summertree, say it fast and it becomes summertree, semmertree, cemetery . . .

SUMMERTREE, by Ron Cowan
and directed here by Dr. Douglas K. Hubbell, kicked off the spring Fine Arts Festival.

Was it about the generation gap,
or a boy, Dave McFadzean, who went to war,
or his father, Curt Ball, who couldn't understand his son's love for piano, or his mother, Cheryl Scammon, who watched her garden come up after her son was gone?
Grasping the emotions of its audiences,
UE Theater posed the questions
in this their first production of the quarter and in their second—Arthur Miller's classic DEATH OF A SALESMAN. Dr. Dudley Thomas took the lead as Willy Loman;
Pam Gilbert played his wife,
Keith Langsdale, Biff, and Smithy McGinnis, Happy.

SPRING WEEKEND '69

Royalty led the way into Spring Weekend '69 as Billie Sue Alden's beauty and gymnastics won for her the Miss U. of E. title.

Friday's rain dampened tug-of-war ground at the Audubon-scheduled picnic, but spirits remained high and dry (at least high) for the Pat Paulsen-Rosie Grier concert at Roberts Stadium.

Rain, rain went away for Saturday morning's strawberry breakfast and the afternoon's mini-parade and bike race.

All good things must come to an . . .

Spring Weekend ended with Saturday night's dance in Carson Center and the awarding of prizes for the winners of a climactic afternoon.

BIG 39 WHEELS TO ΛΧΑ

"There's always next year . . ."
With a promise of "We shall return!"
ringing in their ears from last year,
the men of Lambda Chi Alpha made ready for the '69 comeback they had to have.
And with a more than up-for-it team, they got it.
The Goodyear Blimps, rookies of the year, took second in a race that was close nearly to the finish.
Phi Mu's cheered the Blimps to their second and to a first for themselves as backers.
Excited . . . tense . . . nervous . . .
Worth it? You know it! . . . Down to the dunking!

LARGEST CLASS OF 732 GRADUATED IN '69

For some it seemed a long time,
for others just a four year flash,
but for all it was an opening chapter that had its last words written the night of June 8, 1969, in Roberts Municipal Stadium, before proud eyes of parents and friends.
A long day that began with Baccalaureate . . .
the build-up to the moment of fingers touching diplomas that mean more than ever before . . .
a long, hot night, waiting for an end . . .
Eager to see what's really outside,
but deep down afraid of what might be there,
the capped and gowned graduate nears the threat and promise of a new world.

Webster: a period of 365 days

looked back anxiously over a '68 ball, once fragile, now coal-diamond hard:
a ball exploded into other worlds
and contracted to a span.

5 hours

The great eye watched as the U.S. birth rate plunged to a record low, Pope Paul's encyclical banned the pill,
and the nation's census topped 200,000,000,
and blinked as mini skirts minied two more inches.

48 minutes

Rolling into '69,
UE enrolled 5,000 students,
5,000 bodies and minds to be challenged and then to challenge an atomized world that has nonfictioned men on the moon.

48 seconds

'69 saw a man with a dream that equalness could be real (instead of just a nice thing to talk about) killed by a sniper's bullet:

Martin Luther King's capacity to endure equaled the dream that lived.

Divided into 12 months

'69, waiting for Christmas or Godot or . . .
watched as surgeons' hands transplanted hearts,
as the four year switch put Nixon in D.C.,
and as Paris became the place for peace talks—
or at least a good place to argue about shapes of tables—
while an ugly war machine in southeast Asia ate men alive, and yet . . .

The time spent by the sun . . .

Students marched against war and the draft and for more say-so in schools—
here for open housing and coed dorms.

And they wore "Biafra" buttons and "We Give a Damn"
while "What do they want?"

was the feeble attempt to bridge
a generation gap that is no gap at all,
but a catch-all excuse for misunderstandings.

. . . in its apparent passage . . .

'69 came, inheritor of the postulating people possessing more questions than answers but ready to harmonize the discord or disrupt the status quo.

. . . from vernal equinox to vernal equinox.

"People, people who need people . . ."

We celebrate ourselves and sing ourselves but will we dare
disturb the universe?

Academics is a world, forming habits of mind which last through life—habits qualified by “freedom, equitableness, calmness, moderation, and wisdom” à la Newman. But the university is today’s biggest factory, rolling off of its four-year assembly line the “educated man” and the man who slid through draft-free and the man who didn’t on the five-year plan. It’s run by administrators, faculty, and students (who ask why B+ must count as B-)—men whose place in it is justified if once they are challenged or challenge.

THE WORLD OF FACULTY-ACADEMICS

The classroom is sometimes the confines of kaleidoscopic ideas, exciting ideas to revolutionize a world; sometimes it is the stagnant pool of apathy where attendance is up only because attendance is taken. Some teachers won’t be forgotten ever; some can’t be remembered now; and some ought to be forgotten forever. But somehow despite the pressures and facades of academic freedom that isn’t so free—sometimes—learning takes place. And that is what it’s all about.

ART

Art is the expression of man, and sometimes the expression of the UE student is art. Whether it's a Rembrandt etching, a Calder mobile, or an Art 101 watercolor, someone has tried to express a world that is real to him.

"I don't know anything about art, but I know what I like."

Forget it.

Art lives in a changing world:
what you hate today you'll love tomorrow.

Mr. Mominee; Mr. Points; Mr. Oagley; Mr. Osborne, head of the department; Mr. Wright.

FIRST ROW: Miss Boyd, Mr. Nolte, Mrs. Ruth, Mrs. Meckert, Miss Ramey, Miss Herron, Mr. Knapp, Dr. Shepard: Head of Dept.; SECOND ROW: Mr. Dove; Mr. Luther, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Selfridge; Mr. Kitto; Mr. Rapp; Mr. Lacey.

MUSIC

Do re me so la fa? . . . Do re me so fa? . . .
 Music from caveman drums and danee to Gary Burton and Stan Getz communicates in sounds right for everybody and who's to say what is right? Mozart is beautiful, but so is Duke Ellington. And what is beauty?
 Whatever it is the UE student learns to create it and to theorize about it in theory classes that separate mice from music men. Do re me la? . . .
 What if there were no beautiful sounds?
 If Strauss' shirt had gone through the wash?
 Where would the "Blue Danube" be?
 Or would it be at all?
 Oh well, do re me.

SPEECH AND DRAMA

"Mr. Chairman, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen of the United States of ...
of the speech class, I uh ... uh ..."

Oral communication, elocution, butterflies.

The best way to make yourself understood is to speak correctly and distinctly.

It sounds easy. Antony did it.

"Friends, Americans, and ... you thirty snickering faces."

Gr-r-r Antony!

The UE drama student learns Aristotle and Stanislavsky, and he practices blocking and building sets and he dreams
about Broadway and hopes for the Guthrie.
But, first, he discovers how to use every power in him to be someone else.
Then for two months, at least,
he willingly suspends disbelief
for six nights of escape.

SITTING: Dr. Smiley, Dean of School of Fine Arts; STANDING: Dr.
Thomas, Head of Dept.; Miss Mlady; Mr. Hubbell.

FIRST ROW: Mr. Brown; Dr. Moon; Dr. Schafer; Mr. Whitesell;
Dr. Tapley, Dean of School; SECOND ROW: Dr. Garnett; Dr. Wesley; Dr. Royster; Dr. Kraft.

EDUCATION

Another education class? Oh no!
More papers and studies and graphs and theory, all theory. Is it really this way?
Don't they think I can do that?
How hard can it be to teach fourth grade?
Music, art, math, methods classes,
and how long does my skirt have to be?
At least I won't begin teaching completely blind to the needs of my stu . . .
"Miss Baldwin, how did Groundhog's Day begin?"
"How did . . . yes, well, uh . . ."

ENGLISH

FRONT ROW: Mrs. Francis Huff, Mr. George Klinger, Dr. Virginia Grabill, Dr. Paul Grabill: head of the department; SECOND ROW: Mr. Herman McGregor, Dr. Paul Schlueter, Mr. Robert Byler.

More ways of expression. How many more exceptions do we have to learn before we get to the rules?
All those books to read and terms to learn!
What if Faust hadn't made the deal?
Or Milton never lost Paradise?
What would happen to Lit. 223?
Thank God for articles, and bless the soul of Mr. Roget wherever he may be!
If I quote the whole paragraph, and use wide margins, maybe the paper will be two pages.
What is a footnote, anyway?

Miss Becker; Mrs. Gallant; Mr. Gallant; (above) Mr. Greer.

HISTORY AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

Mr. Bauman; Dr. Jaebker, Head of Dept.; Dr. David; Mr. Ensley.

History—man's way of benefiting from the past?
Or a lesson that all we learn from history
is that we don't learn from history?
It is sometimes names, dates, and facts
that curtain the drama of an age,
the lives of people not unlike us.
We learn facts, but we wonder. . . . Is it true that George Washington had wooden teeth?
Or that the Virgin Queen wasn't?

Dr. Morlock, Head of Dept., Mr. Gooch, Mr. Harl.

SOCIOLOGY

Finally we're able to learn about man,
 at least about how he lives
 and loves
 and hates
 —and maybe why.
 Soc. classes branch
 from the classroom to the ghetto.
 They talk to people and discover why "we're better than they."
 But "we" and "they" lose identities.
 A little understanding
 may be a dangerous thing,
 but it does solve many problems.
 What is ethnocentrism, anyway?

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Achtung!

How many declensions does Latin have?

Finally I can read some of those books
they said I'd never understand.

(Who said Rome didn't have its dirty old men?)

But what's wrong with good old English?

What was good enough for Lincoln and Dryden is good enough for me. The catalogue says two years for liberal arts people.

Could switch to education. Why couldn't Galileo,

DaVinci, and Copernicus have spoken English?

(Curse the Tower of Babel!)

Russians may need to know four languages,

but why should I? Je ne sais pas.

Make English universal?

I second that!

FIRST ROW: Mm. McCarty; Dr. Ellingson; Frau Werking; SEC-OND ROW: M. Ransbottom; Senor Talbert; Dr. Hatch, Head of Dept.; Dr. Werking.

Dr. Kress; Dr. Hempfling; Dr. Perkins, Head of Dept.; Rev. Lynn; Mr. Bell.

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION

Idealism, epistemology, realism, phenomenology: "isms" and "ologies" with different ideas about truth. Plato made his stab at it; so did Socrates. And after 2,000 years we're still asking what it's all about, what it means to "exist," what it means to "be." A sentence written 4,000 years ago is the only thing we know of one man. Ten years from now will anyone remember me?

From paganism to Christianity man has believed in some being higher than himself. Religion classes study man's move from gods to God. They find Him sometimes hidden by doubt and suspicion. He's not dead. But is He really hiding in Argentina?

BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Behind everything in today's world is the complex world of business.
Accounting, managing, marketing . . .
All these form the backbone of an economy to help stabilize the country
while the dollar rises or falls.
Everything is a game now.
But soon it will be for real.
The lives of millions could be changed
by one signature. Even the Country Store has to have someone who can take inventory.
Someday the design for an office will be important. Don't worry about typing:
the secretary can do it, or the machine.
No, credits and debits isn't a new card game.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

24, 25, 26, 27, 28...

I can't do any more.

Physical fitness is great for a P.E. major,
but the catalogue didn't list the prerequisite:
ability to do pushups.

Run around the track ten times?

Oh well, anything for a grade.

The worst part is the last ten minutes.

Hey! I feel like I could lift

a hundred pound weight.

Would you believe last quarter

I was a 97 pound weakling?

FIRST ROW: Miss Patton, Mrs. Voorhees, Miss Steiler, Mr. Voorhees, Mr. Jeude, Mr. Hudson. SECOND ROW: Mr. Davies, Mr. Byers, Mr. McCutchan.

Mrs. Woody; Mr. Brooks; Dr. Johnson; Dr. Maves; Dr. Sampson:
Head of Dept.

PSYCHOLOGY

I wonder why you said that.
 Here, like down on this couch.
 Now, what was your relationship with your mother?
 Psychology helps us know ourselves,
 or does it? It enables us to understand others' inner thoughts and compulsions, or does it? I pity the rat,
 but it will help . . . perhaps at registration:
 "watch the human run in circles."
 One good thing about that class—
 we do get a lot of interesting films.

SITTING: Dr. Robertson; Mr. Taylor; Mr. Winternheimer; Dr. Mueller. STANDING: Dr. Dunham: Head of Dept.; Dr. Banman.

BIOLOGY

Who'd have thought a plant was doing all those things instead of just sitting there making fruits or vegetables?
Microbiology, genetics, anatomy . . .
These will show me what everything is really made of and/or how it's made.
Life created in a test tube?
I'm glad I wasn't.
What? Cut open that frog?
Excuse me while I leave the room.

CHEMISTRY

You mean salt is sodium and chloride?
 Oh, yes, I knew that.
 Just forgot.
 Labs are long
 and usually last through dinner,
 and lectures are dull,
 but how exciting did you expect valences to be?
 There are memorable moments: the time
 you spilt acid on the new suit, and the time Souse the Mouse got out. Then there's the week
 you spent with purple fingers.
 There must be some reason
 for spending two hours on one equation,
 but what does H_2S really have to do with the price of rotten egg smells and mushroom-shaped clouds?

Dr. Weller: Head of Dept.; Dr. Manning; Mr. Kroneman; Dr. Kinsey.

SPECIAL SERVICES

They provide a place to take a test
and a place for a child to learn to read.
If you have a problem of any kind,
they try to help or find someone who can.
Sometimes it's hard to see any direction
in study, but they are quick to offer guides.
Should I change my major?
Should I be in school at all?
They have tests to aid decision-making and to unwind entangled minds.

Mr. Wade; Mrs. Hochstetler; Mr. Brownlie, Mrs. Fisher.

HOME ECONOMICS

At last!
I can make my own clothes.
Beautiful dress! But it's a size 18.
I'm a 14. Must have been the pattern.
Well, at least I can cook.
What? Why, a cake of course!
It just looks like a pancake.

Mrs. Lundquist: Head of Dept.; Mrs. Kinsey.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

Interdepartmental, physical science includes physics, chemistry, and math.
We travel from alpha centauri
to the earth's core.

We watch the diminishing of mysteries and their rise as man learns more about his perhaps expanding, perhaps steady-state universe.
There are labs that are fun—and dangerous
for the careless or daring:
I wonder what would happen if I mixed . . .
Get the fire extinguisher!

Mr. Williams; Mr. Schleiter, Director of Physical Science; Mr. Purdy.

ENGINEERING

FIRST ROW: Dr. Kusrhner; Dr. Hartsaw, Dean of School; Dr. Casler; Mr. C. Winternheimer; SECOND ROW: Mr. Funk; Dr. Lee; Mr. Houston; Dr. Chaudhuri; Mr. Susat.

It is no small leap from Lincoln Logs to building bridges, machines, factories, and all those other ingredients the go into the larger building: the technocracy. But the UE engineering student makes it maybe in four years, maybe five (if he goes co-op).

Whether he's of the industrial, mechanical, or electrical variety, he acquires skills through endless hours at a mechanical drawing board—skills to build a world taken for granted by most. But more, he has vision to erect and light tall buildings with a single blueprint.

MATH AND PHYSICS

FIRST ROW: Mr. Bailey; Mrs. Patberg; Mr. Buesking; SECOND ROW: Mr. Knott; Mr. Meadows; Dr. Coleman, Head of Dept.; Mr. Brooks.

Dr. Miles, Head of Physics Dept.

$$E = mc^2$$

What does that mean, anyway?
 Two hours for one problem!
 Does he think this is my only class?
 The computer is fun to work—
 when it's working
 and that other guy isn't there.
 (I could tell Pythagoras a thing or two about triangles!)

What was that about a quantum theory and a double what?

NURSING

Sisters of mercy wearing a smile
instead of carrying Flo's lamp must help a patient live and then avoid self-satisfaction when they do.
A nurse's job is never done for she's continually on the run from obstetrics to geriatrics,
nursing care plan to clinical conference,
hospital to class, T-score to "my grade."
Be understanding. Talk. Be friendly.
But not too much and not too friendly.
Perhaps a bit more make-up would . . .
The greatest thing is to see birth,
the worst to see death, but she must help
even though the duty booties hurt
and the unies don't fit.
She's a UE student nurse,
and you can expect more from her.

Lt. Col. Loemker, Commanding Officer; Capt. Cox; Capt. Nummi; Sgt. Peavey; Sgt. Whitaker; Sgt. Sloat.

Drill, drill, drill . . .
March until your legs feel dead (or don't feel at all)
and your backs hurt
from standing straighter than usual.
The first year the uniforms don't fit;
the caps don't either.
But a year later . . . ah . . .
a salute from a cadet alters everything.

ROTC

Third down and one to go . . .

No, not toward a goal post,
but toward an ever-beckoning
hallowed door.

It stands ajar for one more year
while GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY—that good job, gold band, or grad school—lures the anxious senior forward
one more year.

It's the year to pull up the GPA or take it easy for a while in the nearly-ended world—
the world of the college senior.

THE ENDING WORLD OF THE UE SENIOR

The class of '69 saw UE grow from a "senior senior high" to a college
to a university to . . . no,
they won't be around to see it cluster.
A lot can happen in four years:
"Why, it seems like only yesterday . . .
we watched Neu Chapel rise stone by stone."
"And Hyde and Shanklin."
"And girls' hours were 10:30."
"Remember when . . . and when . . ."
Stories will grow with memories,
but nonetheless,
a lot has happened since yesterday.

TEACHING

There was the beautiful world of shining eager faces
and unexpected questions,
of innocent laughter
and the well-aimed paper wads.
There were lesson plans too
and discipline problems and a little Devil
for every perfect Angel.
The quarter waned and with it
the supply of bulletin board ideas;
coming to an end were all the frustrations
and all the panicky moments, but the rewards of a wonderful career
were just beginning:
Student teaching.

SEMINAR

It meant the State Hospital and the entrance into a world of the irrational with strange looks and barriers to break through despite first feelings of tension.
There were many things to remember,
many topics to avoid,
and too few topics to talk about.
In the probing of a somehow estranged mind
there were feelings of friendship and desires to understand and to help.
It meant the first tangible step into the confused world of another:
The Sociology Seminar.

MUSIC

Four years of practice went before it,
four years of droopy eyes,
of tired fingers, and weak lips;
twelve quarters (at least)
of rugged schedules went before as the Fine Arts Building became the home away from home for the Music major—exhausted but dedicated.
Then as that special day neared butterflies flew into stomachs,
practice moved to perfection,
and quick prayers were hot-lined before The Senior Recital.

LOVE

There was that special world outside of books and majors
and classes:
the world inhabited by two
and created in the special looks,
the crazy moments,
the shared dreams,
and the cherished memories.
It was filled with dances
and shows and parties (and studying too).
Its treasures were the kisses,
the hands held,
the seriousness of it all,
the walks,
the talks,
the future together,
the lives together,
the final year
of that wonderful crazy courtship:
the new beginning.

He knows better than the others
the seven ages, and he is them all, acting his part upon the stage.
There were the lines to learn
when he should have been reading Wordsworth or Tennyson or . . .
There were rehearsals—
some good, some . . . well, not so good—and the make-up and costumes and scenery and a place for everyone in the theater.
But there was that goof
that one laugh caught and immortalized in a moment,
and the concentration as he pulled himself into a world
all his own and shut out
the one outside.
There were four years of rehearsals
and now opening night:
the lights go up on his world stage
and he at last walks on to play his part.

SERVING OTHERS

There weren't always roses and rewards in four years of pill-pushing and shots and endless hours listening to problems and complaints, to hopes and to fears.

These were the four years
of bed pans, bed baths, bedside manners and enemas.

But the student nurse's world
was more than this: it was the smile,
the glow of a face, the squeeze of a hand,
the gratitude,
and, finally, the pin
and the glow from within climaxing the last hard year of nursing.

THINKING

"For seniors only,"
the catalogue said. Their course—enticing, like a movie for adults only—but it meant an exciting exchange of ideas—
an experiment in learning.
It meant the broadening of horizons,
the probing into Coney Islands of minds,
the arguing that led from nowhere into somewhere,
the breaking through to something new though "nothing is really new . . .
nothing . . . nothing . . . nothing . . ."
It meant questions and more questions, and answers—a few—and frustrations
as limitations of the mind closed in.
It meant rejections
and suggestions
and the bouncing off of opinions
and the building of a person:
Critical Intellectual Issues.

CREATIVITY

The senior artist peers through his palette to find a four-year collage of paint and newspaper and scruffies and the challenge of blank whiteness. He has painted his four years to his taste —with oils perhaps, oils that no water can wash away. He's had the joy of creation as he molded forms and squished clay through his fingers, as he threw his ideas onto a potter's wheel and saw them spun smooth, the rough edges rounded. He was the "because" of creativity; his was the endless search for better and more meaningful means of expression, and his the desire to share it with others.

RELAXATION

There was a time to relax,
a time to escape into the aroma
of coffee and cigarette butts
and the warmth of old and new friends.
In the permanent-temporary neglect of books,
the gossip,
the anticipation of the 10 o'clock hour,
the endless talk of school,
the coke cups,
the feet on a dusty floor
tapping to the rhythm of a loud juke box,
the noses glued to books,
and the laughter,
the senior finds his "home away from home"
is a fourth year in the Indian.

STUDYING

After high school commencement
come the four short years of beginnings,
of beginning to find a world in books,
to like the taste of coffee,
to wander about with road-mapped eyes
and fact-crammed heads.
There was somewhere a beginning to learn that papers get done—somehow,
that lesson plans
and nursing care plans work—sometimes,
that it pays to take good notes—always,
and that mere accumulation of facts
can herald an end of thought.
There were the beginnings
and the ends
of speeches, observations,
reports, and finals.
And these things too passed away
into burnt ends of midnight oil
and the scattered ends of one beginning.

SENIOR WEEKEND

It was a weekend to call their own when a senior queen reigned over it all.

Awards were presented,
and if they got an award,
then four years of hard work (which could have been harder) paid off. This is what it was all about?
And there was a day of no school to be followed by no school . . . ever again
for most.

And there was the bike race
and the excitement of it all and the picnic breakfast of strawberry spring weather
and sun, maybe . . . maybe rain.

"You know it always rains spring weekend."

"Maybe this will be different."

"Yeh, maybe."

This one was different: the last spark
in the tallow-end of memories.

It was that need for parliamentary procedure
when the lords and ladies of the club became disorderly.
It was the despairing hope of the president
when the group's apathy sounded in silence
in every discussion, every argument.
And yet it was this world
that became enlivened by vigorous campaigns and healthy group participation
put forth to straighten out this apathetic world
of studying sloths.

THE WORLD OF UE ORGANIZATION

Organization on this campus cures campus catalepsy, and this cure comes in the form of becoming involved in some kind of campus activity, be it religious or social,
honorary or physical.
At UE life is real;
it attacks the thinking
of the student,
and the student that retaliates
in some kind of reasonable way,
at least in some kind of way,
is in the world of UE Organization.

THE WORLD OF THE UE GREEK

The UE Greek traces his ancestry through decades of American college history to the College of William and Mary, 1776, and through centuries of Medieval heraldry
to the ideals of perfection and excellence of the real Greeks.

He stands for high but often lost ideals of brother/sisterhood and personal conduct.
He wears a glittering pin and saccharine smile.
He measures out his life
in the old golden goblet that brims over with that peculiar elixir that makes him gr-r-reat!

THE GAME OF PAN-HELLENIC RUSH

Pan-hellenic rush is a game.
There are four different teams,
and the object of the game
is to win as many players as possible.
The AOPi's try to wow 'em with a luau . . .
Nanny Chioppins "does her thing" for Chi O's . . .
The Phi Mu's western theme party never fails to lasso a few . . .
And Zeta Heaven beckons all rushees to pledge.
The rules are ruthless
and the competition more than keen.
This is a game of faces and poses.
But beneath it all is a unique love
for Greek sisterhood—
a sisterhood that means more than anything else, particularly during this game.
For this game determines the very future of the sisterhood . . . the sorority.
This is indeed a unique game.
No one ever really loses?

IFC

Monday, six p.m., at the Union means Interfraternity Council for the two representatives from each fraternity and the 5 officers, headed this year by Gregg Barrett. Joining with Panhellenic, IFC sponsored Greek Weekend and gave the annual James E. Morlock Community Service Award and the IFC Scholarship Award to the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Advised by Dr. Kraft, the council is responsible for men's rush and pledging and assures that objectives and activities of fraternities are in accord with the aims and practices of UE.

SEATED: Marcia Wellemeyer, Diane Neal, Dean Childers, Ann Arensman, Priscilla Dickinson; STANDING: Emily Backus, Teana

Newman, Ann Barnett, Brenda Brooks, Teena Luhrsen, Franny Leeds.

PANHellenic

Wednesday, four p.m., means Panhellenic meeting for the representative from each sorority and Panhellenic president.

They serve as rush counselors, and this year they joined IFC to sponsor Greek Weekend.

Offering awards to the sorority with highest scholarship and to the one showing most scholastic improvement, they prove their position on good scholarship.

They also stand for guarding good health, for maintenance of fine standards, and for serving to the best of their ability.

Their ideal: cooperation for futhering fraternity life in harmony with its best possibilities.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

"Alpha Omicron Pi, friends as the years go;
loving sisters are we, loyal forever, Alpha to thee." An AOPi lives her song, and UE benefits from her sisterhood and talent: Icebreaker Queen, best director of MM, and three sisters on SGA mean a lot, but to a sister visible rewards rank a far second behind friendships and memories.

CHI OMEGA

She aims at excellence in hellenic,
cultural, and Christian pursuits,
for goals color the fabric of a Chi O.
Her successes include May Day Queen,
first place Homecoming Display,
and two fraternity sweethearts.
Her annual projects include Thanksgiving and Christmas Kindness to the ghetto and Orphan picnic, and favorite professor.
To a Chi O, success is relative.
The real perfection is in the striving.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

Striving to obtain for its members all the benefits which can accrue from membership and from contacts with Brothers of the Bond, Kappa Alpha Psi works to maintain an up-to-date, first-rate college fraternity.

The men of the fraternity aim to make college life fruitful and happy and the years following graduation rich in memories of college days. They regard fraternity life as an experience in cooperative group living, a process of continuous socialization. This is the meaning of "social" as applied to Kappa Alpha Psi.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Founded as a literary society in 1869, Lambda Chi Alpha boasts 100 years at the University of Evansville. Steeped in tradition, the fraternity demands activity, involvement, and loyalty. Located in a new quarter million dollar home, the fraternity sponsors many campus dances and the annual Watermelon Bust. From the Photozetean Literary Society, to Phi Zeta Colony to LCA in 1956, the fraternity has matured. The past holds a bold reverence, for the men of LCA.

The men of PKT,
the newest frat at UE,
began as Sodalitas,
began as 19 men,
who netted 19 more first rush
and since then a gallery of awards—
for quarterly scholarships, lawn display, intramural sportsmanship, Musical Madness.
They've grown to 54 men and 10 pledges, trying to make real the Greek ideal.

PHI MU

A quiet mixture of beauty, brains, and smiles, the women of Phi Mu brighten the campus world. Sisters captured Miss UE, Miss Congeniality, and Basketball Queen titles. They served with compassion and maintained top GPA's. They sing "Happiness Is Being Together," and no one doubts their claim "I'm a Phi Mu!"

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Ever try to dampen an SAE's spirit?
Firemen tried five times and failed.
They doused five house fires,
but the fraternal spark was still dry.
It was indeed a hot year for SAE:
a successful Playboy Party, Orphans Day Picnic, Hawaiian Luau,
and building plans for 1970.
"Come On Light My Fire."
No chance, baby.

Standing at their red door surrounded by the new Girls of the Golden Heart, Sig Ep men stand for brotherhood.
They're men of awards—first place
in scholarship and the bike race—and of honors,
three of them being favorite men of sororities.
Becky Cooper is their two-time sweetheart,
reigning over the Queen of Hearts Ball.
They host the annual PJ party and Fireman's Fling.
Their bond they'll never sever—Sig Eps are they.

For men of the Red Carnation, character is the key to success;
fraternity stands for men,
not for wealth, rank, or honor.

From Illinois Wesleyan came The Teke Charter;
It is a standard here

ZETA TAU ALPHA

Enthusiasm, philanthropy and busy smiles.
The women of ZTA, always active, plan a year to the hour, and seek to do more.
And what they do, they do well.
Mardi Gras, Panhellenic Ball, first place in University Sing, second honors in Musical Madness,
State Pledge Song Victor, and impressive in sports.
To a Zeta the calendar is a challenge,
the next day a deadline, sisterhood a reality,
and idleness a sin. The busy smiles bring life to the gray seasons and inspire action.
Try to catch a Zeta; it's a challenge.

Populated by 200 or more faces,
some more well-known than others,
but all familiar,
the campus resident's world is housed in a yellow brick building-home.
It is a confining world,
consisting most often of one room,
a desk, bed, dresser, and mirror.
Bare essentials.
But it is an unbound world,
breeding special kinds of friendships
that may not survive,
but will never be born again.

THE WORLD OF THE CAMPUS RESIDENT

The campus resident knows how to study
and how to play,
how to watch TV,
to wash, iron, and mend,
and to house lost pets without getting caught.
He's a night person who watches day come while he plays cards or takes part in a bull session or talks with his roommate,
and then he sleeps late, sometimes.
He knows more uses for shaving cream than Gillette;
and a letter from home makes his day
in the home he's made away.

HOUSEMOTHERS

Mother to all, related to none,
she listens to gripes (and gripes some, too).
She shares happiness and swells with pride
when her dorm wins. And she's around to lighten defeat when it doesn't.
Soothe the broken romance,
kiss the new pinwoman,
guide and watch over,
but carefully avoid commanding:
the job of a housemother.
Always there, knowing where interest stops and meddling begins, she's a counselor, a friend,
a mom away from Mom.

BIGNEY HOUSE FRANKLIN HOUSE

She crosses the busy intersection;
then the apartment-living coed walks
one of the well-beaten paths up to Franklin, Hovda, Bigney, or Torbet. Living not with one,
but with three or four others, she shares—
shares responsibilities not only for cleaning,
but also cooking. Her requests?
Just hip boots and boots for the basement—
stashed away for a rainy day.
A place where campus communication
sometimes doesn't reach . . .
farther from classes . . .
inconvenient sometimes . . .
a great experience always:
the Apartments.

MOORE HALL

Moore Hall, oldest and biggest, came out of hiding this year—came out to win Homecoming Queen with pert Ellie Price, who also nosed Action into SGA for '69-70; came out for a second place trophy SAI Sing. They threw another egg into the independent pot with a first in Musical Madness '69. Come spring, a cloistered coed stepped out into the community for a pageant: Paula Young returned to Moore as Miss Evansville on her way to Michigan City for the really big one. Girls working together for a mutual goal . . . girls backing a resident in an individual pursuit . . . four girls sharing one phone: Moore Hall.

Officers. B. Koch, R. Newman, M. Warner, B. Hauselman

HUGHES HALL

This year? It was a very good year for Hughes Hall men as they tossed in a win for the once-begun, never-ending independent cause: with a pad in Hughes
Sam Small charmed the female vote to become Bachelor of the Year.
A feeling of unity took root and never stopped growing as the men of Hughes grew proud—proud of their hall and proud of each other.
A periodic flood wets the halls;
a noisy party keeps pace with the night.
A center for criticizing Birchers . . .
a haven for laughter at W. C. Fields . . .
a resting place on a path to success:
Hughes Hall.

BRENTANO HALL

Officers. SITTING: N. Allen, L. Schweiger. STANDING: A. Allred, B. Ratliff, K. Kirtley, P. Jones.

Second in a line of many to come,
Brentano Hall is home to many girls.
Its four flights of stairs leading to a possible fourth floor room somehow don't seem so long when Brentano extends its
"air condition" calling card.
Life assumes a typical pose for its resident:
big date, hair to fix, borrow that dress
from . . . whose was it? . . . hum . . .
study in the sun did pay off,
no time for dinner,
grab a candy bar from the machine,
movie tonight, stop at Frisch's later maybe,
then home—home to a beautiful, envy of many, lounge,
home to Brentano.

Officers. R. Barnett, L. Wilburn, P. Overman, B. Bohnert, A. Wilson, P. Privitt

NEW UNIT

Sparkling, shining, gleaming—the newest of new—and nameless. Still an infant, the New Unit is making a name for itself in the world of UE residences. It houses girls living, working, studying, playing, each deciding when and where to draw the line between having fun and getting an education and sometimes finding the two merge at the line. The New Unit woman joins her neighbors at Moore and Brentano in signing out-and-in, Eleven or one to two means return to a place for chatting, sleeping, meeting, seeking, initiating: the New Unit.

Officers. SITTING: J. Bumgarner, M. Flynn, F. Lloyd. STANDING: J. Butler, R. Guth, R. Painter.

HALE HALL

The newest of men's unit, Hale houses men
 of tug-of-war distinction.
 They worked together all year,
 backing their fourteen officers,
 then pulled together for a May Day win.
 Life at Hale includes weekend outings together
 after living and studying together all week.
 An organization, but not an organization . . .
 needing definition . . .
 a crossroads of friends
 helping friends
 a place together to live and grow—
 Hale Hall.

UE students play athlete.

Play?

No! Work.

It's valuable training for later life,
self-discipline, team work,
and for giving maximum effort.

The best fight for UE.

The others fight for fraternities,
sororities, residence halls, clubs,
themselves.

Some win; most lose.

Try harder!

"Wait till next year" they cry.

LIVING THE WORLD OF ATHLETES

Hanging in the balance—sorta like life.

Maybe it's in;

we win . . .

maybe not;

we lose.

But we tried.

Splash, Splash, Splash.

Faster, swim faster.

Into the turn;

stretch a little more;

now you're ahead!

Training pays off.

Concentration and determination by Coach Jim Byers, plus bruising aggressiveness from UE players copped a 44-7 win over Butler.

FIRST AND 10, GOALS TO GO

A good year down for the football Aces,
they look forward to next year,
to an even better year.

A community Varsity Club holds promises—promises
for Coach Byers and his squads.
The ball's passed, it's caught,
and the word is first down and ready to go for the '69 UE Aces.

SWIM ACES SPLASH TO VICTORY

Lap after lap after lap after . . .
It takes stamina and spirit and a bit more than these for Aces swimmers for whom practice is measured in miles on lanes to perfection. The '68-'69 season brought high hopes to diver Gordon Bryant, followed by rewards when he won the one-meter diving competition in the NCAA College Division. Winning with him, Bob Lodato took the 100 and 200-yard backstroke events.

FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT FOR BASKETBALL ACES, CONFERENCE CHAMPS IN DARKHORSE FINISH

THIRD ROW: Dave Weeks, Layne Holmes, Jim Thompson, Mike Owens, Rick Smith, Coach Arad McCutchan.

They came to meet the challenge of a "super" reputation.
Try, play hard, win, lose.
It was a good year by most standards,
only average at UE. Upset the top dog from the South. Turn and lose a heartbreaker.
And watch all the while the seldom-beaten frosh.
Like a flash out of the night,
our Aces bagged the conference crown (without huge servings of Redshirt support).
The past is glorious, today is good,
and tomorrow looks even better.
Go, fight, win—re(d)gardless!

ACES BASKETBALL UPSWING CROWNED '69 ICC CHAMPS

Things looked up for the 1968-69 basketball Aces. They look even brighter for the future. Below, all heads seemingly look upward to the Aces upswing. Mike Owens has that look of despair as if something may hinder the upsurge. But Roger Guth's calm concentration and determination tell all that things are about to go up.

HE STOPS,

HE JUMPS,

HE SHOOTS

Some shots are carefully planned; others are simply let fly, hoping they hit their mark. In these pictures the 1969 Aces show some of their hustle. Some shots hit their mark, others didn't. Some we won, some we didn't.

INFANT U OF E WRESTLING PROGRAM LOOKS TO FUTURE GROWTH

"They tried harder," but the wrestling team's best was somewhat less than great. Cleo Walker was outstanding at times. But the growth of the team didn't meet expectations, and UE lost—not just matches, but also Coach Davies, who goes to a bigger school. Despite a season something less than superb, none dare call it bad for a beginning program. The future can be nothing but brighter for the fledgling '69-'70 UE grapplers.

TRACK TEAM TAKES SHAPE AFTER YEAR OF BUILDING

SECOND ROW: John Moon, Steve Leek, Larry Poe, Morris Clark; THIRD ROW: Jackie Clark, Bob Poe, Tom Morgan, Richard Fulmer, Jerry Barber, Keith Smith, Ron Hoff; FOURTH ROW: Coach
Schleicher, Brad McGinnis, Tom Riordan, Don Plemmons, Keith McKinney, Norm Stevens.

Jump higher, run faster,
work out longer, defy the cinders—
all to beat the competition.
It was a building year for UE's track team.
Coach Schleicher worked hard with his team, and they returned his efforts with equally hard work.
Satisfaction. Pride.
Sporting one of the best
all-weather tracks in the area,
UE's track future looks bright.
We'll break tape first.

UE NETTERS SERVE UP WINNING SEASON ON COURTS

It didn't take long, no, not long at all . . . With nearly new courts, tennis, a nearly new sport at UE, sports a record hard to beat, and the team is just that. Coach Voorhees and his netters, filled with just enough confidence, traveled to the ICC aspiring to championship, reflections of a good season, and returned with goals for '70, experienced by one more year.

UE GOLFERS 2ND IN ICC; BAT GIRLS SPUR DIAMOND 9

Coach Beck's golfers made good on the links, taking second in the ICC where Bob Walther was medalist. Coach Davies' diamond men cracked out a hickory-to-horsehide season, cheered on by UE's first quartet of "bat girls."

KNEELING: K. Miller, S. Kuehn. STANDING: R. Spilker, R. Kirsch, B. Walther, S. Place, M. Pillar, Coach Beck.

VOORHEES PUTS IM ON RIGHT TRACK

IM in 1969—
Controversy, injury, program revamped.
Voorhees took steps to save IM at UE.
He succeeded.
IM lives on
to become better and better.
Two student directors will help next year.
Stimulating competition for all students results from IM.
IM is good,
thanks to Voorhees.

IM program at UE includes many sports continuing throughout the year. Basketball and football rank high; Volleyball is also popular. All events lead to the tower of success—All Sports Trophy. The biggest of big belongs to TKE in '69.

BASKET-, FOOT-, VOLLEY-; IT'S A BALL

INTRAMURAL COMPETITION KEEN AMONG GREEKS

Splash, stroke, breathe,
strain, pull ahead and win.
Leaving womanly wiles (for a while),
this is what Zeta women did
to capture the women's swimming competition.
Lambda Chi Alpha put out the best effort in men's races and pulled in the swimming crown as they piled up
All-Sports trophy points.

The Lambda Chi's added more points by capturing the basketball title. But TKE added to their total and went on—on to win the All-Sports trophy with wins in volleyball and wrestling. Chi Omega proved their court supremacy by a title in the basketball competition. The rivalries are keen, enthusiasm high, and the students hard players in IM sports at UE.

IM TENNIS, SOFTBALL VICTORS

Hale Hall and UEI's cracked men's and women's softball bats for respective championships in '69 intramural tournaments. Suzanne Lachen and Mark Pillar served up wins to UEI's and TKE's in intramural tennis.

TEKES COP IM TRACK TITLE

Those few yards ahead
or inches higher to victory
sometimes seemed miles
in intramural track competition.
With LCA'S only steps behind, TKE'S ran hardest and jumped highest—one more rung in their ladder toward All-Sports Trophy.
